Republican State Convention.

The Republican State Convention meets at Madison at noon to-morrow, and upon the result of its deliberations depends in a great degree the issue of the approaching Fall election. From the general character of the delegates elected we augur favorably of the proceedings of this body, and hopefully anticipate the selection of a ticket which will be triumphantly sustained at the polls.

Money Matters East.

The Hollister Bank, Buffalo, suspended yesterday, causing much excitement and a heavy run on the other Buffalo banks. In New York, the money market is still very stringent, and the panic in stock continues. Michigan Southern fell yesterday to 10¾; La Crosse and Milwaukee to 15½, and Milwaukee to 25. State Stocks begin to share the depression and show a marked decline. It is confidently believed, however, that matters will mend in a few days and business resumes its customary course

COOL.—The American of yesterday, announces the nominations of the Democratic State Convention in terms which indicate a marked coolness towards some of the candidates, especially the head of the ticket. The Anti-Barstow men find great difficulty in swallowing this Barstow prescription.

REPUBLICAN DELEGATES.—In the Oak Creek, Lake and Franklin District, Milwaukee county, ORLANDO ELLSWORTH and WM. FOWLER are the delegates elect. The district Committee are H. M. THOMPSON, O. ELLSWORTH, and ASA HOWES.

Granville and Milwaukee elect PETER BENDLER and FRANK SMITH as their delegates.

MONUMENT TO ABBOTT LAWRENCE.—A fine marble monument, 26 feet in height, is now nearly completed, and will soon be placed over the remains of Abbott Lawrence, at Mount Auburn. The monument consists of a Roman Doric shaft, with a spiral line of leaves, surmounted by an antique urn, with drapery, standing upon a heavy pedestal.

John Thompson's Failure.

Mr. John Thompson thus announces his own suspension in his Reporter of the 27th inst:

"The Ohio Life Insurance and Trust Co., suspended, unexpectedly, on Monday last. This Banking Institution is the largest in Ohio, and probably the most important and active in the Western States; its failure undermined the very base of confidence.

"Your humble servant has also suspended, together with several other houses in Wall street. It is unnecessary for us to speculate upon the causes that have forced this event upon us, or predict the consequences. As it relates to ourselves and our creditors, we can only say that we shall exert ourselves to save all from any ultimate loss, time being necessary to enable us to liquidate all our assets.

"The want of confidence and other causes have carried down several banks—the names of which will be found in another column—and some others, not mentioned, are reported in trouble and will probably suspend.

Cut loose from the active business of Wall street we shall have ample time to look after this paper and the interest of our numerous subscribers; and they may rest assured that the pet of seventeen years will not be abandoned or neglected at this critical period.

"The Reporter, from this day forward, will be published by Mr. Pratt Adams, who for the last five years has had charge of it in that capacity; and to whom, or ourself, any communication relating to the paper can be addressed."

A BRIEF PANIC.—The Wall street panic of the present year, if very severe for a while, has proved one of the briefest we have ever known. It had scarcely begun before it was an end.—Even Jacob Little, who is rather accustomed to such things, found he was more scared than hurt, and, after failing a whole day, concluded to go again. The organ of Parker vein and Potosi announced that all the brokers were toppling over like a row of bricks set on end; but no list of names has been published, and we do not hear of any "burst up" houses among the regular merchants. The panic was as short as it was sudden and severe, and as the business season is now about commencing, our jobbers, importers, shippers and commission merchants will have too much to attend to to have any time to bestow upon panics.—N. Y. Times, 28th.

"WALKER'S MEN."—A party of twenty-six of Walker's deluded horde of filibusters reached this city on Saturday, making the number of thirty similar arrivals within the week. They were a wretched looking corporal's guard—some of them in poor health, all of them miserably clad and out of funds. As suffering men they may claim sympathy and aid; as "Walker's men," nothing. Our public have no pity to spare for those who from an illegal and piratical expedition, undertaken in the face of the opposition of our Government, have brought back enough of health to enable them to handle a spade or a pick-axe. Let them work out their own restoration to respectable and honest citizenship, and say nothing of ever having been "Walker's men." It would do them about as much honor to avow that they served as chicken stealers.

The party made application to the city authorities for aid, without any result as yet.—Chicago Press, 31st.

THE SUGAR SPECULATION.—The New England merchants, as well as our own, are carrying on the sugar and molasses speculation with great pertinacity. A Newburyport correspondent of the Boston Traveller states that millions of dollars' worth of these articles held on foreign account are stored in that town. Three acres of South Boston wharf are completely covered with molasses hogsheads, the leakage from which, it is stated, amounts to forty thousand gallons a day.—N. Y. Tribune.

THE NATIONAL FAIR—GRAND CAVALCADE.—Doubtless the most interesting feature of the grand national exhibition next week, will be the grand procession, on the first day, of all the cattle, horses, &c., entered for competition. It will prove such an entertainment as has never before been vouchsafed to American eyes on American soil, and with which even the Royal Agricultural society of England could not show its fatted heifers and blooded cattle.—Louisville Journal.

Republican Meeting.

Agreeably to Notice duly given, the Republican Electors of the Wauwatosa and Greenfield Assembly District, met at the Honey Creek school house in the town of Greenfield, on the 29th inst, for the purpose of electing Delegates to attend the State convention to be held at Madison on the 2nd day of September next.

On motion, Hiram F. Story was chosen Chairman, and Wm. W. Johnson, Secretary.

On motion, It was resolved to take an informal ballot for a Delegate to represent the town of Greenfield, in said State Convention, which resulted as follows: Edwin Johnson having received the whole number of votes cast, was on motion declared unanimously elected

An informal ballot was then taken for a Delegate to represent the town of Wauwatosa, which resulted as follows: Richard Gilbert having received a large majority of the votes cast, was on motion, declared unanimously elected.

On motion, A. S. Darrow and Reuben Strong were elected District Committee.

The expression of the meeting was almost unanimous in favor of E. D. Holton for Governor

Resolved, That the minutes of this meeting be published in the Republican papers of this County.

HIRAM F. STORY, Chairman
WM. W. JOHNSON, Secretary.

Dated at Greenfield, Aug. 29th, 1857.

Punti Meeting.

At a meeting held in Vandercook's Hall, Saturday eve., August 22, for the purpose of taking into consideration the laws of the State, for the punishment of the crime of murder and giving an expression of sentiment thereon, on motion, George Wall called to the chair, and A. J. Turner appointed Secretary.

Addresses having been made by L. W. Barden and John Dean, a committee of three, consisting of Messrs. McGregor, Mason and Emery, were appointed to draft and report resolutions to the meeting.

During the committee's absence, the meeting was further addressed by John Conden, in favor of the restoration of capital punishment, and by Hugh McFarlane in opposition.

The committee on resolutions submitted the following report:

Resolved, That it is the deliberate judgment of this meeting that the crime of wilful murder deserves the punishment of death, and that in all aggravated cases no less punishment will satisfy the ends of justice, quiet the mind of the public, and preserve the public peace.

Resolved, That from all the information we have on the subject, we are satisfied that the public opinion of this State coincides with us.

Resolved, That a committee be appointed to circulate a petition for the restoration of the death penalty for murder, to be presented to the next Legislature; that such committee correspond with other committees or citizens in other points of the state to endeavor to procure the passage of such a law, and that our Senator and Representatives be instructed to aid such passage.

Resolved, That this meeting sympathize most deeply with the friends of our late esteemed fellow citizen, W. S. Reynolds, so foully murdered, and that our citizens owe it to themselves to see that the murderer does not escape justice.

The resolutions were supported in a speech of some length, by Mr. Calkins, of Rock county.—On motion, they were adopted.

The Chairman named as the committee called for in the third resolution, H. Merrill, G. Ege, and E. B. Craig.

On motion of Mr. Mason, a vigilance committee of seven was appointed by the Chair, to use their best efforts to secure to John B. DuBay a fair and impartial trial, and to secure the execution of the law in this case. John P. McGregor, Hugh McFarlane, John Condon, L. W. Barden, M. Mason, Alva Stewart, and Andrew Sweeney were appointed such committee.

On motion of Mr. Condon, the proceedings of the meeting were ordered published in all of the county papers, the Madison Argus and Journal, and the Milwaukee Sentinel.

The meeting then adjourned.

GEORGE WALL, Chairman.
A. S. TURNER, Secretary.

The Break in the Sault Canal.

The Detroit Advertiser contains a letter from a correspondent at the Sault, who was a witness of the late break in the Canal. It appears that a small rill of pure water has been issuing from the base of the embankment since the first opening of the Canal, and was supposed to be from a spring. On the morning of the 21st this little rill enlarged to a considerable brook of muddy water, and the embankment commenced caving. Men were immediately despatched to close caution gate.

It was with great difficulty and much labor that it was got under motion, and at least two hours were occupied in getting it to its proper place; after which, it had to be laden with stones to sink it to the bottom of the Canal. As soon as the gate was secured, the valves in the locks were opened, and the water drawn down about eight feet, leaving some four feet in the Canal.

The steamer Michigan arriving soon after, her crew assisted in the repairs, which were completed in time for the Ocean to pass through.

JOHNSTOWN, Aug. 27, 1857.

GORGE BY A BULL.—John C. Fletcher, Esq., of this town, was alarmed this morning, soon after midnight, by a disturbance among his cattle. On entering his barn he was set upon by a furious bull, owned by him. His cries awakened the house. Relief, though somewhat retarded by darkness and other causes, was soon on the ground. It was found that the savage animal had inflicted upon him not fewer than ten wounds. Two of the wounds, one on the head and one on the right arm, were severe, though it is believed that none of them are mortal. The great artery of the upper arm was laid bare, and the nerves in that vicinity were lacerated. The scalp in a space of eight square inches, was torn up from the skull. His wounds were dressed by Dr. L. C. Bicknell, and patient has passed the day in a good measure of comfort. His speedy recovery seems now a matter of reasonable expectation. L.
—Janesville Gazette.

NEW YORK DRY GOODS MARKET.—Business is now active. The hotels are filled with parties from the West and neighboring cities for the purpose of making purchases. The stocks, being large, are readily sold without any advance in prices. Until the great silk goods auctions commence, however, the trade will not be at its highest mark of activity. The importations of desirable goods are still moderate. The importers do not complain, and are doing thus far as well as they expected.

Ribbons are in especial demand. Cloths are moderately so. Domestic goods are hardly so active as foreign, still a heavy business has been transacted. Prints and delaines are the most active. Cotton staple goods are steady both in demand and prices. Woolens are but in limited request.—Independent, 27th

NINETY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS SECURED BY ADVERTISING.—Smead, Collard & Hughes, of the Citizens Bank, bearing that the Trust Company Bank was receiving checks on itself for the payment of the loans of the Trust Department, at once advertised their claim for sale, and before 2 o'clock yesterday had the bonds and mortgages of the wealthiest men in Cincinnati in exchange for their deposits in the Trust Company Bank.

TRUST COMPANY CHECKS.—Certified checks and certified certificates of the Trust Company vary in price from 70@90 cents on the dollar, with more sellers than buyers at the latter figure. A large creditor of the bank, yesterday, sold $10,000 at 75 cents, payable in two years, without interest.—Cin. Gazette, 28th

LIGHTS AND SHADOWS OF POLITICAL LIFE.—On last Saturday, Judge Conrad, of one of the Philadelphia courts, sentenced a man named Rump to prison for two years and eight months for the perpetration of frauds by which James Buchanan was elected to the Presidency last fall. Mr. Buchanan now occupies the White House at Washington, and Rump is domiciled in a cell at Moyamensing.

Why Provisions Have Been Dear.

The Philadelphia Pennsylvanian has compiled some statistics which serve in part to explain the extraordinary high prices of all kinds of provisions which have ruled the past year or two. In 1849, for instance, the United States produced 84,820,000 bushels of wheat, 108,000,000 bushels of Irish and sweet potatoes, 11,970,000 head of cattle. Had agriculture remained simply stationary—considering the increase of population—it ought to have produced in 1850, 115,240,000 bushels of wheat, 146,000,000 bushels of potatoes, 20,349,000 head of cattle. Instead of which, it only yielded 100,480,000 bushels of wheat, 104,000,000 bushels of potatoes, 18,375,008 head of cattle. Thus the diminution of these articles during a period of ten years, amounted to about 15,000,000 bushels of wheat, which is a falling off of 1-7; 41,000,000 bushels of potatoes, which is a falling off of ⅓; 2,000,000 head of cattle, which is a falling off of 1-10th of the production in 1849—duly taking into calculation the increase of population. Here, then, we have one reason for the advance of provisions.

While agriculture thus proved unable to keep pace with the growth of the population, the exportation of breadstuffs increased prodigiously, which, of course, re-acted upon the home market. The value of breadstuffs and provisions exported averaged per annum for the period.

From 1830 to 1840	$12,000,000
" 1840 to 1855	27,000,000
" 1850 to 1856	41,000,000

Thus the exportation more than doubled in ten years, and nearly doubled in the last seven years.

These facts, taken in connection with the dispersion of laborers over the wild and non-producing lands of the west, by the railroads, will go far to explain why the provision for a family costs more than twice what it cost them, or even five years ago. There has been an immense temptation drawing the laboring classes to the west. Before they left they used to produce more than they consumed. Now—that is for the first year or two after their emigration—they consume more than they produce, or what they produce is not within the reach of consumers. It will not always nor long be so, we hope.

The Turner Festival.

The Turners were specially favored, yesterday, in regard to weather. A glorious sunshine and a fresh westerly breeze made out-door exercise delightful. At an early hour, the Turners and a number of military companies commenced assembling at head-quarters, and shortly before 10 o'clock they formed in procession and, accompanied by three or four bands of music, marched through the principal streets of our city to the beautiful grove on Spring street hill, owned by JAS. H. ROGERS, Esq., and by him kindly placed at the disposal of the Turners. The procession, with its rich banners, stirring music, well-drilled military companies, and, above all, the numerous, neatly uniformed and good-looking corps of Turners, took the city by surprise. Nobody had anticipated such a turn-out and all were gratified by the display.

Arrived on the ground, after two or three hours spent in social intercourse, the performances commenced. The gymnastic exercises attracted crowds of spectators and were remarkable in their way. Many of the feats were admirably performed, and those who distinguished themselves were heartily applauded by the dense crowd of spectators. We understood that the St. Louis Turners particularly excelled in these trials of strength and agility. Two or three hours were agreeably occupied in those pastimes, and then the Turners and their guests marched back to head quarters.

In the evening, Young's Hall was densely crowded, to hear the Readings, Declarations and Prize Concert. The performances were excellent throughout. To-day, there is to be pistol and rifle shooting, fencing and other trials of skill, and in the evening a grand ball at Albany Hall, where the prizes for the best performers are to be awarded by the ladies.

TARGET EXCURSION.—Company "A," of the Milwaukee Light Guard Battalion, have their annual Target Excursion to-day. The officers of the Battalion Staff and of Company "B," as well as many of the Honorary Members, are expected among the invited guests. By invitation from GEORGE B. BRIGHAM, Colour-Sergeant to the Battalion, the Target shoot takes place on his farm in the Eighth Ward, where he proposes to entertain Company "A" and their guests at a handsome collation. There are a number of elegant prizes to be shot for, and a close contest is anticipated. If the weather proves as fine as it has been for the past few days, Company "A" will have a good time of it.

PERSONAL.—Among the numerous arrivals at the Newhall House yesterday, we notice the names of Gov. BINGHAM, of Michigan, Mr. BINGHAM, Chief Engineer of the Detroit & Milwaukee Railroad, and several Scotch and English gentlemen, who are interested in the Canada Railways and their western connections. We understand that these gentlemen will remain in our city for a day, or two, and propose to take a look at some of our Railroads.

RAIL ROAD EXCURSION.—A special train of cars goes out over the LaCrosse & Milwaukee Rail Road to day, with a number of invited guests; among them, Gov. BINGHAM, of Michigan; Mr. HIGHAM, Chief Engineer of the Detroit & Milwaukee R. R., and other gentlemen from the East, who are anxious to take a look at some of our railways and the country which they traverse.

☞ Our readers are invited to the card of Dr. CARSON, in our advertising columns, this morning. Dr. C. comes among us with a view of making Milwaukee his future home. He is recently from Providence, R. L., where his reputation for skill and the extent of his practice, was second to none in that city. His testimonials are of the highest character.

FAMILY FLOUR.—We are indebted to Messrs. RAYMOND & SPICE, No. 16 Wisconsin street, for a bag of Extra Family Flour from Birge's mill, Whitewater. We can commend this flour to all house keepers as a very superior article. Messrs RAYMOND & SPICE intend to keep it constantly on hand.

The Newhall.

We reached home from Milwaukee and the Newhall Festival and found our paper very nearly up, hence we can say but little about this great north-western gathering. It is supposed that there were not less than 2,000 persons in attendance, and we heard many estimate the number at over 4,000. The House is the most elegant building west of New York, and the interior finish and furnish is not excelled probably in the United States. The lessees, Messrs. KEAN & RICE, were so fortunate as to make a friend of every person present, and though the magnificence of this Hotel may be thought extravagant for so young a city, we believe that like Railroads and other great enterprises of various character, it will beget a business for itself and very shortly prove highly remunerative to its Proprietors. It is a credit to the city of Milwaukee, and an enduring monument to the name of NEWHALL.

The Beauty of the Badger State was out in glorious splendor. We felt like thanking God that a good looking woman at home was entitled to the adoration which the Angel of the NEWHALL came near extorting. Had we been a bachelor, our heart would have been "smashed into smithereins" in the first hour of review we indulged in.—North Iowa Times.

MR. BEELER, of the Madison Journal, says:

Messrs. Kean & Rice, the proprietors, are gentlemen who understand the art of making their guests feel at ease, and are well calculated for popular landlords. Milwaukee—"the fair white city," as Meagher called it—which its neat and handsome lake, its air always tempered in the extremest heat of dog-days by bland zephyrs from off the cool expanse of old Michigan, its unparalled lager and other amenities too numerous to mention, will be a place-ant place of resort in the summer season, now that it has a hotel where travelers can be accommodated with all the comforts and luxuries of the first-class houses in the East."

Success to the Newhall House!

BENEFIT OF THE MISSES SMITH.—The complimentary benefit of these clever artistes comes off at Young's Hall this evening. A very good bill is offered, and the singing, dancing and Ethiopian delineations will be of the best.

New Avenue Wanted.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I notice from your paper this morning, that the Menomonee Bridge is disabled. This suggests the inquiry why Monroe and Sixth street avenue, is not opened, and measures taken to have a bridge built, and the streets graded, so that the already large population of the Fourth and Fifth Wards may have another avenue of crossing the Menomonee valley. This improvement is greatly needed. When the present bridge is in operation even, it is frequently so thronged as to be difficult of passage. Messrs Aldermen of the Fourth and Fifth Wards, please, hurry us the Monroe and Sixth street avenue.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 31st. D—.

MR. EDITOR:—In reading the Wisconsin of Saturday last, the editor complains very much about high rents, and says it is a positive injury to the growth of our city. I must differ with him very materially. It is a sign of immense increase of population. To give our friends of the Wisconsin some light on the subject, there are now in Milwaukee, going up, and about finishing, from one thousand to two thousand buildings, and from all the inquiries I can make, all the said buildings are engaged, and I presume a thousand more could be rented if they could be put up this fall. There are more buildings going up in Milwaukee this year than have gone up the last two years past, and yet the demand for houses is increasing daily. The emigration here this summer, and from what is coming the present fall will fill every nook and corner of our city, wherever a shanty can be had. If the owner can get six hundred dollars rent for a house, when, in fact, it is not worth more than four hundred, why I would say he is not a business man if he does not take it; he has as much right to advance on the rent of his house as the produce dealer has on his flour and wheat, and as the merchant has on his goods, when the demand is great.

I think very different from the Wisconsin.—It shows a very healthy state of affairs, and a great increase of population into our city. I presume that our population, if accurately taken, would number not less than sixty thousand inhabitants. Quite a number who have come among us the last summer, have been purchasing lots to obtain a home of their own, and it is a wise plan, and all who have not yet secured themselves a lot should do so and go to the City Land Office, Ogden & Wall, on Michigan street, opposite the Newhall House, and there they can purchase a lot from $250 to $450 in Judge Smith's Addition, Fifth Ward, on terms that the poorest man in the city can meet (if he has any industry.) The terms of lots in Judge Smith's Addition are ten per cent down, ten per cent in 30 days, balance in 5 or 8 years with interest in annual payments, and a more beautiful place cannot be found in the city. The said lots, I do believe, will sell for double the price next spring. All who have any money to invest, or who have not yet secured themselves a home, take my advice and attend to it.

Old and Young are now indiscriminately using Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative; some as a cosmetic or beautifier of the complexion, some to prevent the hair falling, some as a mere dressing of the hair, and others to make it grow and to change gray hair to its original color; and there is no doubt of its answering all the purposes for which it was designed by its illustrious inventor.

We are utterly averse to incurring editorial responsibility in trifling matters, but as we deem it no trifling matter to have the hair on a man's head (when or no surely facing off) actually and permanently restored, so neither do we consider it unworthy the editorial profession to recommend a Hair Restorative that will effect this very thing. Wood's (so-called) "Hair Restorative" is the article we have in view, and if the certificates of the most distinguished men in the country are entitled to credence, then is this preparation all that is claimed for it on the part of its proprietor. LATEST NEWS!

BY MAGNETIC TELEGRAPH.

Later from Europe.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—2 P. M.

The Collins steamship Atlantic arrived at half past 6 o'clock on Sunday morning, from Liverpool 11.30 A. M. of the 19th.

She signalled the Persia on the 21th, and saw the Fulton off Cape Race, on the 26th. The Asia arrived out at 8 A. M. of the 16th.

The news by this arrival are unimportant.

The directors of the Atlantic Telegraph Company were to hold a special meeting in London, the day the Atlantic sailed, to consider whether the attempt should be renewed in October, or deferred till another summer.

The London Star says, it is estimated that the outside loss the Company will sustain will be about £25,000. It is fully expected that at least one-half of the sunken cable will be recovered. All that is within 400 fathoms will be got up; and that portion in deep sea will in all probability never be recovered.

The proceedings of Parliament were uninteresting.

The recent storms and floods had done considerable damage to the crops in various parts of England, but dry weather had prevailed during the days preceding the Atlantic's departure, and it was reported that the effects of the rain would be much alleviated.

The London Times says, a merchant recently deceased at Liverpool is said to have left liabilities, reaching £360,000, of which £100,000 are through forged acceptances to bills of exchange. The Liverpool Post pronounces the story a hoax.

The mail steamer for India would sail on the 15th August, and would take out £1,250,000 sterling, in silver.

The fetes Napoleon, on the 15th August, passed off well, although the out-door arrangements were marred by wet weather. It is believed that France will demand of England the extradition of Lodin Rollin, and it is stated that he is about to come to the U S

Madison, July 6, 1857.

The State Treasury.

The nominee for State Treasurer, on the Barstow ticket, is Mr. CARL HARICH, of Madison, now Deputy Treasurer. Mr. HARICH, so far as we know, is competant enough to discharge the duties of an office, with which, by this time, he ought to be familiar. But there is a grave objection to his being put in charge of the Treasury. As our readers no doubt remember, Mr. JANSSEN, the predecessor of the present Treasurer, is a defaulter to the State to the amount of thirty-five thousand dollars, or upwards. During the greater part of the time that Mr. JANSSEN was Treasurer, Mr. HARICH was clerk. In this capacity, he could hardly have failed to know that the Treasury was being robbed, and as a faithful officer, he should have called the attention of the proper authorities to the subject. If he did know the defalcation, and kept that knowledge to himself, he is unworthy of the office for which the Barstow men have nominated him. If, on the other hand, he was ignorant of the condition of affairs, it argues certainly a great lack of the qualifications essential in a vigilant and trustworthy Treasurer. Upon either supposition, Mr. HARICH is clearly not the man for Treasurer.

Gov. Walker's Duplicity.

The late communication of Gov. Walker, published at Washington, and interpreted by the Union and other ultra pro-Slavery papers in such a manner as to set both the Governor and the Administration right with the ultra Southern press, is having its natural effect among the so-called "conservative" northern press. Of course the mere partizan journals which follow the beck of the Union, lead where it will, sustain Walker. But there were many presses, some of them belonging to the old Whig party, which had determined that Walker was to pacificate Kansas, and taking his declaration in good faith, they believed in his intention to give the Free State men fair play at the polls. These presses now see their mistake. Thus, the New York Commercial Advertiser, never a Republican paper, copies from the Washington Union the following paragraph:

"The responsibility attempted to be fastened upon Gov. Walker is based upon the assumption that he is in favor of referring the Constitution about to be framed by the State Convention to all the people who shall be in the Territory on the day of voting. This assumption was not justified by the acts, speeches or writings of Gov. Walker. On the contrary, we are informed that when the Governor's opinion was asked on the voting qualifications he invariably replied—we quote his exact language—'a previous residence of three or six or months, and that the same qualifications should be adopted in the Constitution in regard not only to that but to all future elections.'"

And the Commercial replies to this:

The Washington Union would insinuate, but dares not affirm, that Governor Walker did not use the language in his Topeka address which is attributed to him. That he did use it, and iterated and reiterated the sentiment, we believe has never hitherto been disputed. The statement that he made such promise is no assumption—no mere interpretation of notes, speeches or writings—but a record of the words employed. And when The Union quotes the Governor's "exact language," having a directly opposite meaning, it only accuses him of recommending one course when publicly volunteering assurances and counsel. After a careful watching and examination of the whole subject, we can reach only these conclusions: That Gov. Walker's deliberate promise that the Constitution should be submitted to the whole people in the Territory at the time of such submission, is now repudiated by the Administration at Washington; that such repudiation is in consequence of a change of policy; and that such change of policy has been wrought in the mind of the President and his Cabinet by the symptoms of disaffection at the South.

The same paper also copies from the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser, and fully endorses, the following truthful article:

Ever since Gov. Walker went to Kansas, we have aimed to treat him and the Administration which sent him with fairness—a course from which we shall not permit ourselves to vary.—The intention which, both in his inaugural address and in numerous speeches, he so emphatically announced, of using the whole weight of his official and personal influence to secure to all the bona fide residents of the Territory the right of voting on the new Constitution, led us to augur well of his administration, and to entertain the hope that if a pro-slavery Constitution should be framed, it would be promptly rejected by the people. But we must now frankly say that we have ceased to expect anything favorable from Gov. Walker's administration. He has fritted away all his strong declarations and assurances.

His promises, made, as they were, in the broad, at terms, and without any qualification, have all their value and significance explained away by the new trick of interpretation. There is still trouble ahead, if not in Kansas, certainly in Congress and the country. Glad, indeed, would we be to see this mischievous agitation settled by a fair vote of the people of Kansas themselves, even if the result were such as to make it a slave State. That would be an evil whose consequences would be mostly felt in Kansas itself; but a revival of the agitation throughout the country would be a general calamity. But if those who are fairly entitled to vote on the Constitution are cheated out of their rights—no matter under what plausible pretext—we shall see stormy times

When Gov. Walker speaks of a previous residence of three or six months, nobody is shallow enough not to see that six is the number really meant, and that the 'three' is used merely to soften a disagreeable statement, and because he shrinks from plumply saying that the Convention will require a six months' residence, and that he approves it. The effect will be to exclude at least half the bona fide settlers of the Territory from any voice in deciding the character of the institutions under which they are to live. The emigration to Kansas, this summer, has been immense, and without any doubt exceeds the population previously there.

There can be little doubt that the greater portion of this summer's emigration have gone to Kansas to make a permanent home, and have the same interest in its institutions as those who will be permitted to vote under the six months' rule proposed by Gov. Walker, and which he evidently regards as certain to be adopted by the Constitutional Convention. Considering how large a proportion of the bona fide inhabitants it will exclude, this rule is obviously and grossly unfair. This period of six months will have its commencement so near the registration of last spring, that it will be a very short step from the six months residence back of that registration, with its sixteen hundred or so enrolled voters.

THE MCGREGOR, ST. PETERS AND MISSOURI R. R.—We learn from the North Iowa Times, (published in McGregor,) that the citizens of that busy town have already subscribed $22,000, cash on the stock of the McG. St. P. & Mo. R. R. and that more is promised. The same paper contains the following item:

GROUND BROKE.—Messrs. Bartlett & Upright commenced work on their sections of the R. R. contract on Saturday last, and we see they circulate handbills calling for 2,000 men and 150 teams. We may expect the letting of the first section, commencing near the River Warehouse in the course of a few days. This fall will be the most active one in business that our point ever got a tight at.

Plundering the People.

Elsewhere we copy from the Bayfield Mercury and the Superior Chronicle charges of a very serious character against certain officials of the State of Wisconsin. We do not vouch for the accuracy of the statements, but if correct they are only of a piece with the system of official plunder and swindling which have so deeply cursed that State heretofore. Perhaps the gentlemen named took their cue from the recent Fort Snelling swindle practiced by the federal administration. If the latter may be permitted to swindle the people of the whole nation with entire impunity, why may not the officers of Wisconsin perpetrate similar enormities, at the expense of the people of Wisconsin? We cannot see that the latter are any more culpable than the former, and if the federal authorities may shield themselves under the banner of Democracy we see no reason why the Wisconsin officials cannot do the same. It would seem to be a difficult matter to improve upon the official corruption of either. We commend the subject to the careful consideration of our Wisconsin friends.—Chicago Dem. Press.

The subject, no doubt, will receive at the hands of the People of Wisconsin the consideration which it deserves. It is high time, indeed, that a change was made in the management of our School Land and School Fund. The practices initiated under the Barstow rule are still faithfully adhered to, and as the new nominees of the party belong to the same political tribe, the only hope for the People is to close the doors of the School Land and Treasury Departments resolutely against them.

The Bravest of the Brave.

That gold box left by Gen. JACKSON, to be given to the bravest soldier of the New York Regiment, is making a world of trouble. When, some time since it was announced that Major DUCKMAN was to be the recipient, there was a general feeling of satisfaction that somebody was to pocket the coin, and put it out of sight.—But there was no such result. The Major has not pocketed the box. Indeed, it does not seem probable that he will. The fight between his party and that of Col. BURNETT still rages fearfully. A few days since, a meeting of the survivors of the regiment was held, at which Major DUCKMAN presided. Adjutant GAINES offered resolutions declaring Col. BURNETT's right to the gold box, whereupon the following proceedings took place:

Col. Duckman relinquished the chair to Major Hall, and made a vehement speech against the resolutions. He held in his hand, he said, a list of the names of members of the Regiment who had protested against the action of the Common Council Committee relative to the award of Gen. Jackson's gold snuff box. At the head of this list was a candidate for the box, who failed to make good any sort of claim.

SEVERAL VOICES—Name the person.

Col. DUCKMAN—Capt. Fairchild.

Capt. FAIRCHILD—It is as false as ——.

The Chairman called out order and told Capt. F. that after Colonel Duckman relinquished the floor he should have an opportunity to respond. Col. Duckman proceeded with his remarks.—Most of the signers of the protest, he insisted, took out little active part in the Mexican war.—He went on to mention the names of several, and responses at once were made denying his assertions, the denial in most cases being made with loud and unscriptural emphasis.

Captain Fairchild disclaimed having put himself forward as claimant for the snuff box. Whoever said so lied like ——.

Adjutant Gaines denounced Col. Duckman in unmitigated terms.

Captain A. N. Taylor, one of the persons referred to by Col. Duckman as having but little war experience, and very little idea personally of the smell of gunpowder, made a very loud and exciting speech. His blood was aroused at the aspersion cast upon himself. He fought in nearly all the Mexican battles—he was there seven months while Col. Duckman was in New York going to the theatres and spreeing generally. What Col. Duckman had said against himself he said was the whole of it a —— lie.

Some one moved an adjournment.

Col Duckman, who after his speech had resumed the chair, at once put the motion and declared it carried.

About one-third of those present withdrew from the room. The remaining party collected a second meeting, voting Capt. Fairchild in the chair.

Several speeches were made in support of the resolutions offered, and denunciatory of Colonel Duckman and his clique, as they denominated those who associated with him. A vote was taken upon the resolutions, and the same were passed with but one dissenting voice. The meeting broke up with loud cheers for Gen. Scott and Col. Burnett.

Ohio—Gov. Chase on the Rescue Case.

At a Republican ratification meeting, held in Cincinnati on the 20th, Governor Chase made a speech, in which he referred to the rescue cases, and said:

We have a right to have our State laws obeyed. We don't mean to resist federal authority. Just or unjust laws, properly administered, will be respected. If dissatisfied, we will go to the ballot box and redress our wrongs. But we have rights which the Federal Government must not invade—rights superior to its power, on which our sovereignty depends, and we do mean to assert these rights against all tyrannical assumptions of authority.

I know not what will be done in Champaign County. The courts will determine that. But I do know that if the Marshals who violated our laws are indicted, and the writs for their arrest are placed in the hands of our State officers, they shall be executed. (Shouts and great applause.) And we expect the Federal Government to submit.

I believe with Jefferson that the cardinal principle of our Union is the preservation of the reserved rights of the States; and if we have certain organic laws, if we wish to maintain our liberties, we must have our laws obeyed. Unless we sustain our officers we must forfeit our freedom, and are worse than the veriest slaves of European despotisms. But I have extended my remarks further than intended, and I must draw to a close. I wish to say, however, that I want an economical government, I want perfect security from despotism of the State, and firm officers, with undoubted integrity to recommend them; I want the right of the State protected; I want to see Slavery overthrown, and intend to help overturn its power; I want to see the power of 250,000 slaveholders over 30,000,000 of people cease; I want it acknowledged that colored people have rights and privileges which they have not now; I want to see Territories become the free soil home of free labor. These are some of the articles of my political faith, and I call upon you to vindicate those principles at the ballot-box.

MARRIED BY EXPRESS.—The Detroit Advertiser chronicles a wedding which took place on Monday last on the lightning train of the Michigan Central Railroad, between Kalamazoo and Galesburgh.

The happy couple were Mr. W. H. Webster, of Ostego county, N. Y., and Miss Emiline C. Beach, of Gurnsey county, Ohio. They were married by John Edwards, Esq., a Justice of Kalamazoo. The Advertiser is informed that the courtship took place during the ride from Chicago to that point.

POLITICAL TENDENCIES.—There never was a period when the Democratic party was in more danger of destruction than at the present time, and its danger arises from the very question which destroyed the Whig and American parties. The South has been encouraged to believe, by the course of the Democracy North, that it can make the General Government, in fact and in truth, the instrument through which slavery is to be extended and perpetuated. Northern Democrats have sustained, as far as they dared, all the aggressive movements of the Southern extremists, but they nominated Mr. Buchanan as a moderate man, and they most heartily dislike to see him driven into the policy which ruined Pierce. On either side there now opens a chasm. If they refuse to accede to the demands of the South, there will be a disruption of the Democracy in that quarter; and if they yield to its dictation they will lose even the few States they have retained at the North. In the meantime the principles of the Republican party are becoming better understood, and the necessity of the organization more fully defined. Men of conservative tendencies no longer fear it, for virtually it has had the control of the whole North for two years. It has shown its ability for governing great States, for developing their wealth and resources, and for demonstrating that its policy will never tend to disorganization, or to the weakening of the bonds of the Union. Thus while the Democratic party is being weakened and destroyed, because it is founded on error and wrong, the Republican party is gaining strength through the righteousness of its principles. Let us look forward with confidence to the period when the supremacy of this party will give new vigor to the institutions of the land.—Newark Mercury.

☞ In consequence of the completion of the M. & H. R. R., Milwaukee can be reached from this place in about 6 hours. Truly, we live in a "lightning age."—Omro Republican.

From the Portland Advertiser of Aug. 24.

Man Picked up at Sea.

Capt. Dudley B. Davis, of the schooner Bloomer, which arrived here yesterday morning from Salem, reports to us a somewhat remarkable incident of his voyage. On Saturday afternoon, while off the Isle of Shoals, about half way between Thatcher's Island and Boon Island, he passed a pilot boat, with her sails flapping in the wind, and no person appearing on board of her. Running close to her bows, he hailed her, but received no answer. Thinking the crew might be temporarily below, Capt. Davis continued on his course, and after running about a mile and a half, had his attention arrested by a call from some unseen source, and upon the call being repeated, he discovered a short distance to the leeward, a man in the water apparently just able to keep his head above the surface. A rope was immediately thrown to him, a boat got over to his assistance, and he was taken on board the Bloomer in a completely exhausted condition. The drowning man proved to be Mr. Michael Stevens, of the pilot boat America, of Newburyport.

An hour and a half previous, while standing upon the stern of his pilot boat, with a spy-glass in hand, the other persons of the crew being at the same time asleep below deck, a sudden movement of the boom had knocked him overboard, and unknown to his sleeping comrades, he was left struggling in the water. Being a good swimmer, he had been able to keep himself from drowning for an extraordinary length of time, but had little strength remaining when the Bloomer approched him. Being to the leeward, his feeble cries providentially reached Captain Davis, but had he been to windward, he would have been unable to make himself heard.—While his strength lasted, he had used his exertions to swim after his boat, but finding the chase a hopeless one and his strength waning, he directed his energies to save himself from drowning. Every attention which his condition required was bestowed upon him by Captain Davis, and when he reached Portland, he had completely recovered from the effects of his perilous adventure. To-day he will return to his family in Newburyport, who are undoubtedly in deepest sorrow for his supposed loss.

The Newburyport Herald of the 24th announces the arrival of the pilot boat at that port, and the report of the loss of Mr. Stevens, concluding as follows:—

All that we know—all that will ever be known, till the ocean shall give up the dead, is that the sturdy man and brave, the useful citizen and valued public officer, had disappeared in the waves.

The above was in type for publication yesterday, but crowded out for want of room. This morning we have the Newburyport Herald of yesterday, which contains the return of pilot Stevens to that place. The Herald says:—

THE PILOT RECOVERED.—The day of miracles is past—so it has, let it go; but so long as Michael Stevens, Jr., shall live, we shall look upon him as one risen from the dead. While we were all lamenting that this worthy man was gone, and the flags had drooped in mourning for the dead; while people were stopping each other at the corners of the street to talk over the matter, and some were raising a subscription for the benefit of the family—after we had published his obituary, and already had another paragraph written, calling for a material testimonial to aid the widow and orphans—as suddenly as though he had fallen from the heavens above, Capt. Steven-, yesterday, at noon, appeared in our streets. Wildly the story goes about town; speedily he is rushed home to a family mourning his demise; instantly the flags from half mast are run hard up; and gladness is upon all faces, for the lost is found and the dead is alive again.

With the tide of men moving to the south end, we go to greet him and learn his story. Almost immediately after his companions had retired below, as he was standing in the quarter with the spyglass to his eye, the main boom jibed over, striking him in the back of the neck and sweeping him into the sea. Instantly the boat filled away, and sailed off with a light breeze. He turned in pursuit; but one hundred yards swimming satisfied him that that was useless. He hailed; but the noise of the sails, the rushing of the waters, and the intervening decks, shut off all communication. There he was in the midst of the ocean; the boat receding, and no friendly sail in sight; it is not desirable to die, and he lay for some time upon the surface, when, by and by, five miles away, a sail appears standing toward him—it is his only hope; a faint hope, but the last. He did not swim to her, but reserved his strength; and when she was within two miles it was evident that she was going a long way to the windward.

He then coolly—oh, how can a man be cool with the deep water below and nought but the deeper heavens above—coolly he struck out to head her off. For three quarters of a mile or more he swam for dear life; but now he begins to fail. His legs are already cold and stiff, and hangs down deep, the waves breaking to his mouth. 'Tis the last chance, he raises his head and shouts; and a woman—a woman's ears are always open to the cry of distress, God bless her—says, "I hear a voice. All hands look round. It is now or never; and as a last effort he stretches himself above the waves and says—"I am drowning!" They hear—they see; "Ease off sheets, up helm! Man the boat!" It is done as quick as said—quicker than written. "I shall drown!" calls the brave struggling, but sinking man, before the boat can pow.

The captain turns the craft full upon him, and minus of help gives the helm to his wife, while with the coil of rope he stands in the bows. The rowers pull strong, but many yards are yet between them and the sinking man, when the vessels prow nears the spot, and with the captain's call—"catch hold," the rope falls upon his head and is turned around the wrist. The rope is paid out, the sails shake in the wind; and in two minutes more—after he had been in the water an hour and a half—the captain and his wife pulled him over the side, helpless, and for a long time clouded and wandering of mind.

This yacht proved to be Bloomer, from Salem, Capt. Dudly Davis, who was taking his family on a trip to Portland, Me. He rendered Capt. Stevens all the assistance needed; landed him in Portland on Sunday; and with the first train that reached here at noon on Monday, he was returned to his family—returned to startle, to gladden, to change! Great God! what a change! The father with three score and ten years upon him—the young wife striken to the soul; the little children to whom home was gloomy—they can tell; we can't.

THE LATE RIOT AT TORONTO.—A correspondent of the N. Y. Times furnishes the following account of the late riot among the hackmen and runners at Toronto, Canada:

It appears that until within the last few days the depots, steamboat landings, and hotels, have been postered by the hack-drivers who assemble at these places, for the purpose of procuring passengers. A soon as a passenger enters a hack, he is at the mercy of these harpies, who will not let their prey escape, unless they pay whatever is charged by these fellows, who sometimes astonish the most liberal, by the extortionate price they demand for conveying their passenger a few hundred yards. Several complaints had been made to the authorities, when a line of stages was built by Jones & Co., of Toronto, all the hotels sending their passengers by these stages instead of engaging a hack.

The hackmen finding that they were likely to fail if the stages continued to run as formerly, determined by a bold stroke to crush the stages, proprietors and drivers at one blow. They paraded the streets in large bodies, hooting and bellowing at the houses of parties opposed to their proceedings, and at last wound up the evening by going to the depot of the conexions omnibus line, on Dutchess street, and smashing a number of carriages. They broke into the yard, drew the omnibuses into the street, turned them over, and by means of stones, staves, and axes, commenced the work of demolition. Some eight or ten stages were broken to pieces by the rioters, and scarcely an omnibus remains whole in Toronto. While the rioters were destroying the stages, the horses were quietly removed to a place of safety by the owners and drivers.

The cry of "To the Great Western Omnibus Station!" was now raised, and large bodies of the mob, followed by the Police, rushed away in that direction, but were fortunately prevented by the latter from doing further mischief. There was a report in circulation that several drivers were met by the rioters, dragged off their seats, the horses cut loose and started down the street, and the poor drivers severely beaten, some of them having their heads broken by clubs, stones, &c.

All this occurred during the night. The next morning the military were called out, and kept the peace during the day, and at evening, when the rioting recommenced, a large number of arrests were made, and peace was soon restored.

☞ A "distinguished lady" of New York, remarkable for several successful appearances before the public, and sundry doctors and lawyers of equal distinction, are expected soon to publish a very exciting and captivating romance let, to be called "Nothing to Nurse." It will appear in Harpers' Weekly—whether it is original or not, is not stated.—Charleston Courier.

☞ Flournoy, of Virginia, said in the Southern Commercial Convention, that "he hated the North for stealing the negroes of the South, and then for lying about it afterwards; and he hated every body that did not hate them." Such a comprehensive spite has not been displayed since Miss Squeers, of Dotheboy's hall, declared she "hated everybody."

☞ Omro is visibly growing. Quite a number of new buildings are just being completed, and work upon others will be commenced soon.—Omro Republican.

From the Boston Evening News Letter.

The Boston Case of Breach of Promise—A Curious Story.

A breach of promise case, promising the most curious and extraordinary revelations, is now the talk of the town—and as the subject has obtained notoriety through the newspapers, we shall be held blameless for telling what we know of the matter. The parties all rank among the fashionables, and, whatever may be said of the case in point, enjoy the highest respectability, and the profound regard of the best people in the city.

Some years ago, Dr. Amos Binney, of Mt. Vernon street, married an accomplished lady, a cousin, bearing the same surname. The families of both were wealthy, and the united fortunes swelled the aggregate to a highly respectable monetary figure—sufficient, at all events, to place the pair beyond the prospect of future want.—It is true, unfortunate speculations at one time reduced the fortune of the Doctor some $200,000, but he rapidly recovered that amount in other speculations in which turned out more successfully, Mr. and Mrs. Binney lived in all the enjoyment of connubial felicity for many years, when it pleased Providence to call away the Doctor to another and better world. The widow was left with all the charms of a ripe and graceful womanhood, and all the golden beauties of an ample and unincumbered fortune.

The season for mourning over, in due time a trip to Europe was proposed. The party was composed of several Boston ladies and gentlemen distinguished for their wealth and social position—the names of whom it is unnecessary to give. It is sufficient to say that they were the elite of Boston society, and our readers may imagine the style of the entire tour. In the course of their rambles, they of course, visited Italy, and the widow's heart was touched with a youthful and undying flame of attachment to one Moses Ingler, a Bostonian, now living in Dorchester, we believe, and a hearty, good-looking specimen of a Yankee gentleman, numbering an existence of some forty-five summers. Letters passed between the parties of a sufficient warmth to attest the character of the attachment that had sprung up in that love-burthened realm—an open avowal took place—Mr. Ingler proposed, was accepted, and the inseparable knot was to be tied on the return home after the European turn. Mr. Ingler, in expectation of the reward in store for him, proceeded, immediately after the declaration, to assume the responsibility of several little pecuniary liabilities, and indulged in several excusable fancies that the truth of the Scriptural injunction, "Cast thy bread upon the waters, and it will return to thee after many days," could not be doubted.

He planned excursions, led parties, took his band at the scalls in the little fairy-skiffs on the Lake of Como—scaled Vesuvius, peeped into and took a drop of the "crater"—feed and cursed the lazzaroni—pummelled the postillions, expostulated with the landlords, kicked the man-servants, patted the maid-servants, and, in short, made himself generally useful as the guide, protector and exclusive friend of the bewitching widow. So far, so well. The widow was doubtless grateful for these unmistakable tokens of self-sacrificing affection, and her accepted suitor, but too happy to be the means of affording the slightest pleasure to one for whose personal charms and real estate he entertained such profound devotion.

The party returned home. The widow came to Boston, jilted Moses, and married, some six month since, the venerable physician and surgeon, GEORGE HAYWARD, of Pemberton Square. Very naturally, after concluding not to blow his brains out, or take to the intoxicating bowl, the disappointed lover swore vengeance. But how was it to be accomplished?

He engaged the Hon. Rufus Choate, and the Hon. Peleg W. Chandler to commence a suit at law against Dr. Hayward, in behalf of his wife, for breach of promise of marriage, and laid damages at $25,000. The papers are all prepared, and unless the affair be compromised, as it is intimated it will be, the case will be tried on the return of the happy couple from Europe, whither they have gone to spend the hours of a full and well-matured honeymoon.
